CITY MASS MEETING HELD

Contra Costa county has every facility for a veterans' hospital. This was a statement made before a mass meeting of more than 100 representative Richmond citizens and war veterans at the Memorial hall last night by John A. Miller, chairman of the citizens' hospital committee.

Perhaps Richmond is not the ideal site for such a hospital, but Contra Costa county has a belt ten miles wide which could accommodate the institution, Miller said. With the coming of the hospital to this county, it would mean something like $300,000 in salaries each year for the employees, in addition to the sums that visitors to the institution would spend.

Will Aid Veterans
But the main point, Ralph Wood, commander of the Richmond Allied War Veterans Council declared, it would take care of disabled veterans and would prepare them to take care of themselves. That is the reason why veterans are lending their whole-hearted support to the move he said.

The efforts of the veterans and citizens committees of Richmond and Oakland are directed, however, in first having the bill providing for the expenditure of some $1,500,000 adopted by Congress. This bill was introduced at the last session and was tabled for further action. Miller declared that he has received assurance through a representative at Washington that the bill will be adopted by Congress this year.

The bill is known as the Rogers bill, H. R. 224. It provides for "additional" hospital, domiciliary and out-patient facilities for persons entitled to hospitalization.

TWO HANGED AT QUENTIN

SAN QUENTIN, Dec. 13.—UP—Two names were added to the long list of men who have been executed here on Friday, the thirteenth, when George Costello and Antonio Negra were hanged today. Costello was hanged at 10:02 a. m. and was pronounced dead 16 minutes later. He was convicted for the murder of William McFarlin, Oakland bank cashier.

Sentenced for the slaying of Ralph Amabile, Merced sheep rancher, Negra was executed at 10:28 and was declared dead 13 minutes later.

The pair had originally been told to prepare to go to their deaths together. Negra broke down and Warden James B. Holden decided that he should wait in the death chamber for half an hour.

Stores To Remain Open Until Nine Starting Monday

Starting Monday, Richmond stores will remain open until nine o'clock at night in order that they may serve Christmas shoppers, Miss Louella Mitchell, secretary of the Richmond merchants association, stated yesterday.

The stores will keep open every night until nine o'clock until Christmas day, Miss Mitchell stated. This will give those who work during the day an opportunity to do their shopping and will tend to do away with the usual last minute rush, the association believes.

CARS COLLIDE

Slight damage resulted when cars driven by George Zanes of Sixteenth street and Macdonald avenue and E. J. Gordon, 3120 Barrett avenue, collided at Twenty-third street and Cutting boulevard last night. No one was injured.

Clear Skies Promised For Bay Section

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13.—UP—The sun broke thru rain clouds here today and clear weather for Saturday and Sunday was predicted by the United States Weather bureau.

Nearly two inches of rain had fallen in San Francisco since the storm started Sunday and the total exceeded five inches in some parts of central California.

The rain ceased just as many rivers of the region were approaching flood stage. Train, automobile and airplane traffic was being restored to normal.

'GHOST MAN' AN IMPOSTER FRIEND SAYS

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Ark., Dec. 13.—UP—Bearded woodmen trooped through the Ozark foothills near here tonight to the cabin of John Fuiks to decide whether Count Franklin had been beaten to death or whether one of their number was the same Franklin in the flesh.

The expedition resembled almost the furtive gathering for a cock fight, but actually it had to do with the possible life-or-death of five men charged with murdering Franklin, a stranger who came into the hills last year and then mysteriously disappeared.

In the center of the group was a man who claims to be Franklin and who returned here several days ago and threw the whole question of whether there had been a murder into a snarl around which mountain folk rallied with loudly-voiced opinions.

Doesn't Recall
Beside the returned "Franklin" was Coleman Foster, brought here from Oklahoma by the state and claiming to have been "buddies" long time.

"Have you ever seen this man before?" asked Hugh Williamson, prosecuting attorney, of the "Franklin" he contends is an imposter.

"No, I don't recall him," replied the "Ghost Man." Ben Williamson, brother of the prosecutor and chief counsel for the defense, turned to Coleman and asked if this man was the real Franklin, the man who courted Tiller Rumer, illiterate girl who was among those who told of the supposed murder and said her "Connie" was turned in a woodpile.

"Somebody Else"
"No, this ain't Connie," Foster declared. "There ain't nothing hardly about the man that's like my old buddy. He's somebody else."

Partisans of both camps were among those who crowded closer. Coleman looked uneasy. There were John Fuiks and Stanley Younker and "Crick" Greenway, relatives of the five men accused of carrying terror through the broken and isolated country, using a horsewhip to enforce their will's beating and burning Franklin.

"Let's get out of here," Foster said to the attorneys. "I'm sorta afraid of 'Crick' Greenway." The man who Foster was accused of being an imposter has stayed at Greenway's home since he came here from Humphrey, Ark.

A little apart, Foster told the prosecutor and defense lawyer. "That man ain't Connie Franklin."

Hitran Suspect In Fraud Net

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13.—UP—A Philadelphia warrant charging use of the mails to defraud was served on Elmer R. Dean here late today.

Dean, a visitor from the eastern city, was at liberty on bonds awaiting police court hearing Dec. 24 on three charges of hit and run driving. In one of the accidents named by police complaint, Miss Florence Paxon society girl, was seriously injured. The United States marshal immediately took Dean into custody.

DEAD BEAUTY IDENTIFIED BY KIN

PACIFIC GROVE, Dec. 13.—UP—Identity of the beautiful woman whose death here has mystified authorities was established tonight by her brother as Mrs. Vera Power, divorced wife of a prominent Berlin specialist.

The brother, Nat Levin, secretary of the Ship Owners of the Pacific coast came from San Francisco. The disappearance of his sister and her likeness to a description of the victim caused his action.

Officials were anxiously awaiting an autopsy, which will be completed Saturday noon. Mrs. Power was believed by the coroner to have died from an overdose of sleeping potion. Her death occurred about a week before the body was found in a cottage she had rented.

OIL MAN WILL NOT BE CALLED

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13.—UP—Edward L. Doherty, millionaire oil man will not be called as a witness in the testimony against his former company, Pan-American oil, because Norman S. Sterry, chief defense counsel doubts his credibility.

Sterry created a mild sensation in Federal court here today during the trial over leases in the naval petroleum reserves, when he declared he was not prepared to vouch for the truthfulness of a statement Doherty might make on the witness stand. Doherty is under subpoena as a defense witness.

"Neither myself nor my present associated counsel has ever believed the explanation, offered by Doherty in connection with his giving a $100,000 loan to Alfred B. Fall," Sterry said, explaining his attitude. He also stated that he called Doherty would probably stand on his constitutional rights and refuse to testify.

"Realizing that after we forced his personal attorneys to withdraw, Doherty would probably take this attitude, we decided then not to put him on the stand," he said.

Because part of Doherty's testimony was necessary to the defense case, Sterry later read into the record excerpts from the oil man's statements in the earlier suit at which the government secured cancellation of some of the Elk Hills reserve lease.

Smith Fails To Get Hoover Bid

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—UP—The man known to millions as "Al" Smith came to Washington today in the role of big business executive, but did not get his brown derby into the White House to which he once aspired and to which he may aspire again.

The former Democratic presidential candidate thought President Hoover was too busy to see him and said he had not been invited to the White House. It was explained at the White House that Smith had no appointment to see the President, which is the usual formality.

"No, I haven't been invited to the White House and I won't call there," Smith said. "You know how it is when someone breaks in on a busy man and I do not feel I should interrupt the President's work, even for 15 minutes."

He came here on a business mission, but the scene at the Navy Department where he went to confer with Secretary of Navy Adams was more reminiscent of the memorable presidential campaign days. The man in the brown derby was almost mobbed by hundreds of clerks at the department. He was surrounded by young girls tried to kiss him.

Uses Right Of All Women

LILI MESTORINO, when her husband Charles was sentenced to serve a life term in France, said she would follow him to the Devil Island penal colony and keep him company. She has changed her mind, however, and will stay in Nice.

CALLES ARREST THREATENED BY OFFICER

LAREDO, Tex., Dec. 13.—UP—District Attorney John Valls of Webb county today reaffirmed his intentions of arresting Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, former president of Mexico if he enters Webb county enroute from Europe to Mexico.

Valls holds a warrant for Calles' arrest on a charge of conspiracy to murder in connection with the death of Gen. Lucio Blanco and Col. Aurelio Martinez in 1922, he said in a letter today to Richard S. Boyce, American consul here and will act according to law unless Calles obtains diplomatic immunity from the Secretary of State.

Consul Boyce has asked in an earlier communication that Calles be accorded immunity.

North East Canada Hit By Earthquakes

HALIFAX, N. S. Dec. 13.—UP—Two earthquakes, several hours apart, were felt today in Guysborough county. The disturbance is believed to have been several miles away, beneath the ocean.

SENATE MAY PASS TAX SLASH BILL TODAY BY RECORD VOTE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—UP—Passage of the $150,000,000 tax cut resolution by an overwhelming vote of the Senate, probably Saturday, was assured today when that body took up the measure recently passed by the House.

Leaders failed tonight in an effort to fix a time for a vote Saturday, but it was generally agreed a final vote would come then. Two votes today revealed the sentiment for speedy passage of the measure as it stands. By a vote of 60 to 15, the Senate adopted a resolution of Chairman Smoot of the finance committee displacing the tariff bill with the tax bill.

An effort of Senator McMaster, Rep., S. D., to amend the resolution lost by an even larger vote, 60 to 12. He proposed that $100,000,000 of the amount be applied to reduction of freight rates on agricultural products.

WILSON WILL HEAD SCOUT COUNCIL

Aubrey Wilson was named chairman of the Richmond Boy Scout district council last night at a meeting held in the Elks club. Wilson will take office on Jan. 8.

Other officers named last night included: H. M. Flint, W. T. Helms, A. C. Paris, C. S. Renwick, F. C. Shallenberger, George Barnett and Johnson, C. E. Clark, Frank Mero and W. H. McCoy, vice chairman; W. S. Poage, re-elected treasury; and C. D. Burns, secretary.

Troop committees reported that every troop, with the exception of one which is without a scoutmaster, are in a healthy condition.

C. E. Clark, retiring chairman, stated that through the cooperation of schools, churches, service clubs and civic organizations, scouting has gained the respect of every person in the community. These organizations are assisting in every possible way to put scouting over in Richmond, he said.

Clark lauded the men who graduated from the advanced training schools held here under the direction of Scout Executive R. F. Cox and J. R. Werne, county Scout executive, declaring that these leaders who took the course are giving the boys the benefit of the instructions they received. He said that a corps of 30 prominent men are giving the boys vocational guidance.

Plans are well under way for the annual county council meeting, which will be held in the Memorial hall on Jan. 18. A fathers and sons' banquet for Boy Scouts and their fathers, is being planned to be held here in February, it was stated.

A committee for this event will be named at the next meeting of the group.

County Courts Honor Jones

MARTINEZ, Dec. 13.—In respect to the memory of Madison Ralph Jones, Judge H. Y. Alvarado and Judge A. B. McKenzie today ordered an adjournment of court until Monday.

Judge Alvarado left to attend the funeral of the late member of the California bar and Judge McKenzie ordered that other than to receive a jury verdict, department No. 1, would transact no business.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

Alfred Lyett, 44 of 11 Washington avenue and Madge Martine, 23, of Richmond yesterday applied for a marriage license in Oakland.

WARDEN PRAISES GUARDS IN EASTERN PRISON BREAK TRY

AUBURN, N. Y., Dec. 13.—UP—In his first official statement since the murderous outbreak in Auburn prison Wednesday, Warden Edgar Jennings tonight described his actions during the three hours of torture when he was held prisoner by 13 desperate convicts, exonerating himself and his guards from charges of cowardice, and directly accused Max Becker, New York clubman of the murder of Principal Keeper George A. Durnford.

Becker, one of the surviving convicts—now in the hospital with a bullet through his lung—will be charged with first degree murder if he lives.

"Criticism Outrage"
"Any criticism of these guards is an outrage," the warden said. "I have seen men in wartime, under dangerous conditions, but none showed any more courage than our group of hostages, threatened with immediate deaths by these desperate criminals. They never whimpered."

In tonight's statement, Warden Jennings corrected some views of the riot resulting from previous published accounts which had been based on a private conversation he had with an Auburn city official.

"I never, at any time, expected or desired the officials in charge of the prison after my capture, to accede to the convicts' demands," he said. "The note I sent out was in disguised handwriting, and was merely a message to gain time. Everyone of the guards knew that, and all of them knew that the action demanded by the mutineers was impossible."

Accuses Becker
Pointing the accusing finger at Max Becker, under sentence of 40 years for aggravated robbery, the warden said:

British Naval Chief Summoned

LONDON, Dec. 14.—Saturday—UP—Sir Henry Braithwaite Jackson, admiral of the fleet, retired, died at his residence at Hayling Island, Hampshire, at 2:45 a. m. today.

Sir Henry had a brilliant record in the navy, which he entered in 1868. He was created an admiral of the fleet in 1919. Previously he had served in many capacities.

He was the first in England to put to practical use Hertzian waves for wireless telegraphy in England's ships.

Youth Killed On S. F. Ship

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13.—UP—The body of James Boyle, 21, was found on the liner President Taft today after the vessel had been funked here late today. Boyle was a cadet on the ship. His home was in Kent, Ohio. An investigation was started to determine how he could remain on board after fumigation was begun.

Chemist Held In World Dope Plot

BASEL, Switzerland, Dec. 13.—UP—Protest of the Egyptian customs authorities today causes the arrest of a German chemist here accused as being the leader in a Europe-wide plot to deal in narcotics. Other arrests were made at Milan, Genoa and in Swiss cities.

Ouster For Bucharest Police Chief Asked

BUCHAREST, Dec. 13.—UP—University students today demanded dismissal of the chief of police of Bucharest and criminal action against police involved in recent riots.

Two New Citizens

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bryant of 410 Twenty-first street are the proud parents of a boy and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ribeiro of Crockett, a girl, both born in the Hospital Richmond.

10 BUILDINGS DESTROYED BY FIRE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13.—UP—Schools and churches of the Sacramento valley and Redwood Empire were closely guarded tonight as authorities sought to fix blame for fires that destroyed 10 of these structures recently.

The precautionary measures had successfully prevented any new blazes in 24 hours.

Six schools, valued at approximately $210,000, have been destroyed, and four churches that cost about $100,000 to build have been burned down.

Officials have been unable to determine the cause for any of the fires, although there have been indications of incendiarism. Armed guards were on duty in Sonoma, Sutter and Napa counties.

PUPIL LOSES AUTO LICENSE

Clarence Wilson, Richmond high school pupil will not indulge in speeding his automobile on Richmond streets for the next 30 days. Not unless he does so without his operator's license in his pocket or the plates on his car. The reason is that the license plates and operators card are securely locked away in the safe of Police Judge C. A. Odell.

Wilson came up before Odell yesterday on a charge of reckless driving. The crime is alleged to have been committed on Twenty-third street and Clinton avenue near the high school, according to the arresting officer.

Wilson was given the alternative of paying a $25 fine or spending the next 25 days in jail, in addition to having his car benched for 30 days.

3 Quizzed In Folsom Plot

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 13.—UP—Three prisoners of Folsom state penitentiary were in solitary confinement tonight, and officials of the institution, were investigating evidence that seizure of guards and arms had been planned.

A note was taken from C. J. Fitzgerald, serving a life term from Los Angeles for murder, indicating that some convicts plotted to overpower a guard at supper time.

Opera Star To Face L. A. Trial

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13.—UP—Baron Shmuel Giovannone Dokesimono may have been a melody man on the boards of the Metropolitan Opera house, but he was just another noise in his Broadway rooming house in Los Angeles.

The baron, a former member of the Metropolitan Opera company—by his own story—pleaded not guilty to a charge of disturbing the peace, in Municipal court today.

The judge set the baron's bail at $50, which he did not furnish. Trial by jury, requested by the opera singer, will be held Dec. 17.

Guy Bates Post Divorced In South

SANTA ANA, Dec. 13.—UP—Marital ties of Guy Bates Post, noted stage actor, were severed here today when his wife, Mrs. Adele R. Post, was granted a divorce on grounds of desertion. They were married in Toronto, Canada, on Nov. 3, 1916.

Couples Scoff At Friday, 13 'Jinx'

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13.—UP—Clerks in the marriage license bureau were surprised by their heavy business today. They had expected they could no little Christmas shopping since, many considered it an unlucky day but they found they had to issue 27 licenses.

EPIDEMIC—CHRONIC—INCURABLE!

POETS long ago discovered "love-sickness" but it's hard-boiled modern science which periodically announces that "love is a disease," just like measles—only this and nothing more! A German, Dr. Waldemar Schwesheimer, is the latest to take the romance out of life.

DR. WALDEMAR SCHWESHEIMER

(Or try to)—in his book called "Love Only a Disease," the subjects love to a purely clinical laboratory analysis. Here, book censors will note, is one analysis of love that is pure!

He explains that, in the persons "afflicted" with love, there is a disposition for the disease. After the germs have lodged in the potential patient—that is to say, love.

There is a period of incubation. When the "love-disease" has at last broken out, there are the following symptoms:

The eye is blurred. The face becomes pale. The heart palpitates. Sleep is irregular.

And the sufferer loses weight. These symptoms, says Dr. Schwesheimer, are intensified to the point of causing the victim to "fade away."

Unless he (or she) can share his (or her) contagion with a chosen victim—unless, in short, love is reciprocated.

The good doctor adds, with what may seem a certain cynicism, that such lovers who see their love reciprocated will recover.

Probably, however, he means that they recover from fading away.

Not from love. For his final comments are the wisest part of his diagnosis. He says, flatly, that inoculation against the "love-disease" is not yet possible. Nor has a curative serum been discovered.

Here the True Romance and the New Science meet!

Love, as all lovers know, is epidemic—chronic—incurable.

Madness, as a so-called cure for love is an utter fable.

The most (or the worst) it can accomplish is to end one attack, thus to leave the patient with resistance so weakened that another attack is inevitable.

What does it matter whether we call love beyond the seas a disease, or a romance, or an illusion?

It is, as every woman knows, the most interesting and alluring thing in the world.

To think otherwise is to fool oneself—Even though fooling oneself sometimes seems a wise and necessary process. Nevertheless, the woman who has both the intelligence and the courage to by honest!

Knows that being in love with somebody is being alive. Love may bring happiness—Or it may bring suffering, bewilderment, conflict, sacrifice. But never, never boredom or futility! Love is the supreme adventure, the universal art.

Because every woman can give love, even if she does not receive it. On a woman may want to recover from a love.

(No, we don't mean recover financial damages)—And may even succeed in getting over him.

But extricating LOVE from her heart and life is something else again. Love may be a disease, but who wouldn't rather "suffer" from it than be cured—and cold.

Or neither—dead?

REGRET

I do not hold regret for many things. That I was brought to life, nor life to me. And yet, if I could live one hour again, I would close the utter warmth and sympathy. I would be more content—for now I know.

The worth of giving that I could bestow.

It is a little sad to reap the past. And see that we have failed in our own eyes.

To wish, perhaps, for moments that are gone.

When suffering has made us fully wise. I do not hold regret for what I bring. But that I failed to give you everything!

MARGUERITE JANVRIEN ADAMS.

BUT WHY DO IT?

Charles S. Mott, Vice President of General Motors, who has just won his divorce, testified that he spent $1,000,000 on his wife in nine months. It can be done—and a dollar can be paid for a delicious sandwich.

NEXT?

We wonder if, in the same day's news,

It has just been ruled, by the Supreme Court of the United States, that Benjamin Silver of New Haven, Conn., need not pay damages to his wife for injuries she received when his car bumped into a telephone post, so how can a wife protect herself in the future except by back seat driving?

PET PEEVES

People who do things because everybody else does them.

People who say, "I like it because it's so different."

Women who have over Paris dresses just because they are in Paris.

Women who buy unbecoming clothes because "they're such bargains," my dear.

Petting, gin, elated cars, flaming youth movies.

Newly acquired long hair which is forever coming down in strings.

Short-sleeved shirts with stubby toes and four-inch heels.

"Resizable" shoes (usually of black kid instead of a shoe) with long, narrow toes, almost flat heels and two straps. People (fortunately rare, nowadays) who say in a tone of smug satisfaction, "If it's good enough for my father, it's good enough for me."

Reversible Coats

THE reversible coat of the resort and spring mode is made of flat crepe in white and pink of white and blue combinations, with quilting used as border. This is seven-eighths length instead of being short, as formerly. White, pink and blue are outstanding in spring colors.

Exotic embroidery rather than being shown in white now appears in blue and yellow for afternoon frocks.

Stirless sport dresses are smartest and newest when made in a recent wave of rayon, which fact makes them very practical and easily tubbed.

CA DISH CA DAY

Rice cookery has become an art in China, Japan, India, the Near East and in some countries of Europe. Properly cooked rice being taken as a matter of course, every cook has mastered the art.

Every grain separate and distinct. The cooked rice comes to the table as a mass of white, fluffy dainties. Or the cooked grains are combined with other foods to form a myriad of fascinating national dishes.

The preparation of rice for the table is so simple that no cook need fall short of the goal of perfection. And yet the directions for cooking rice are so full of minutiae that it is almost impossible to get it right.

In Nellie C. Wong's decorative and practical cook book of Chinese recipes her directions for cooking rice are told in fifty-nine words, every word a volume.

Quoting Miss Wong, whose culinary skill has delighted patrons of her tea shop in Peking and won her first prize at the Women's Exposition of Industrial Arts in New York three years ago, the method is:

CHINESE RICE

"The proper way to cook rice is to wash it twice clean, add water, measuring one inch above the rice surface. Let it come to a boil, turn the gas low. Let the rice simmer until it is cooked dry. Do not raise the lid during the cooking. When rice is correctly cooked, every grain stands separate. As the experienced cook will notice, the washed rice is placed in a saucepan and cold water poured over until the water measures one inch above the surface of the rice. Accurate measurement of rice and water. The saucepan is then covered tightly and set over a flame strong enough to bring the contents of the saucepan to a boil. When vigorous boiling is achieved, the flame is lowered to permit the rice and water to cook gently, simmer, until the rice is soft and delicate.

From four to ten minutes may be required to set the saucepan boiling, according to its size and the intensity of the flame. From fifteen to twenty minutes may be required for the simmering and cooking dry of the rice. Carefully done, no liquid remains to be thrown away (and with it precious minerals and fat content).

The cover must not be lifted from the saucepan, and the rice must not be stirred or disturbed by pouring steam. This rule is imperative. Stirring the rice inclines it to starchiness and mushiness.

For four, one cup of washed rice and about two cups of water furnish cooked rice in plenty. The American taste demands salt; one teaspoon of salt added to the washing water is poured down the drain. Sometimes a teaspoon or so of butter is mixed with the rice at serving time as a further concession to American preference.

FOLLIES OF FASHION

By Marguerite Barnes

MANY women who wear long dresses with uneven hems fail to consider them in relation to the hem of their coats. As a result, one sees unexplained bits of drapery hanging below the coat one or two points only, with no skirt showing the rest of the way around, as illustrated in the lower part of the drawing. The effect is far from pleasing to the eye. Above are pictured three very chic coats with uneven hems which are better suited to the frocks with draperies. The three-quarter coat at center is especially well adapted to the long, uneven skirt and is being favored by many chic women.

Helping the School Child

By Emilie Hoffman

HAS it ever occurred to you that your child's retardation in school progress may be due to outside activities? When he begins to lag and marks are low, take an inventory of what he is interested in besides school and whether this is interfering with the home work or study. If the home work must be done hastily and sleep neglected, the leisure time is not wisely adjusted and it is a school handicap.

School children who do not get the needed amount of sleep lack the energy necessary to carry on the daily routine of school work. They lag at their desks and "take little interest" in recitations, and this means lower mark-making. School children should get from ten to eleven hours sleep and the mother should insist that no outside activities deprive a school child of the required amount of sleep. Not even home work or study should be allowed to interfere with sleep. There should be a period for the preparation of school work and this should be at a time when it will not cut into the child's bedtime.

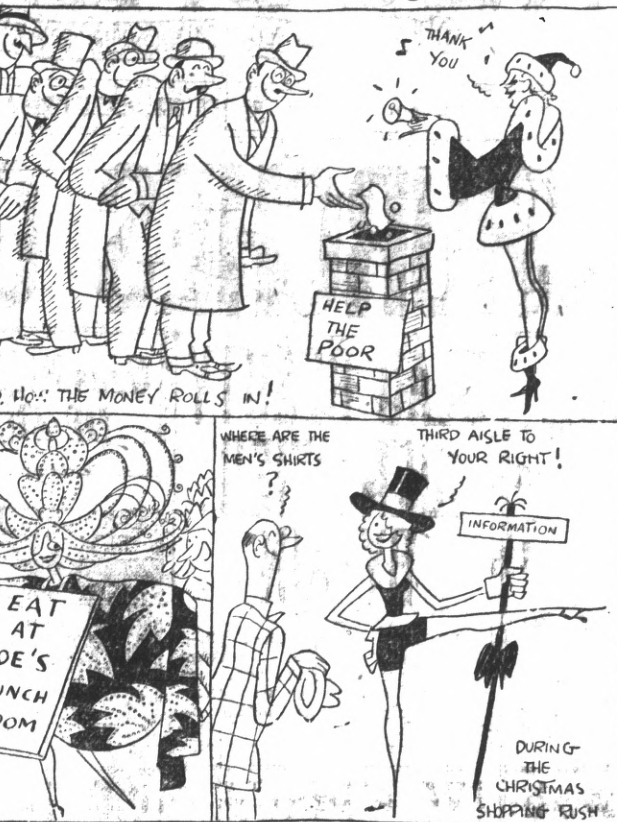

The wise mother will not allow her boys and girls of school age to join organizations that require their attendance on evenings preceding school days. Evening movies and parties should not appear frequently on the program of school children, and they should be considered only as week-end pleasures. In these days of ambitious parents, school children are encouraged to develop talents in music, art, languages, dancing, etc. This means lessons after school hours and more or less time devoted to preparation for these les-

Care of House Plants

You will like mandarin for the wall vase, hanging basket or window boxes. It is a twining vine and very successful as a house plant.

Water house plants every two weeks with ammonia and water, allowing lukewarm water.

Adam's Birthday

The anniversary of the entrance into the world of a man to whom we owe countless great men fell recently. It is forgotten by a ungrateful world. Yet without the man the world would never have known Homer, Plato, Virgil, Caesar, Bertrando, Shakespeare, d'Annunzio, Kant, George Washington, Benedict Arnold, Judas, Midas, James Joyce, John Doe, Wilhelm II, or the Dolly Sisters, for that matter, remarks a Paris paper. Adam was his name. His birthday—the word is not to be taken literally—was determined by the late John P. Brady of Baltimore, a direct descendant. Mr. Brady set up a monument to his illustrious ancestor in 1905; for seventeen years he held a celebration on Oct. 28. Now Mr. Brady is dead. Like Adam, he is forgotten by most of his 1,500,000,000 surviving relatives. As in the case of almost every great figure in history, conflicting conceptions of the mental and physical characteristics of the man whose memory we honor to-day have come down to posterity. Earliest biographical treatment, long regarded as definitive, pictured him as a person of human weakness and few qualities of greatness, throwing away his happiness to satisfy a woman's whim.

The Poby's Shoes

M. Dubreuil, a workman who recently visited America and worked there for a time in the Ford factories, wrote a book on his experiences and discusses the question as to whether it costs the average Frenchman more to live than the average American. He gives some decisive data. In terms of work, the American workman earns a dozen eggs in 55 minutes, the Frenchman in 150 minutes. The pound of sugar keeps the American wage-earner busy for 7 minutes, the Frenchman for 35 minutes. Likewise through a list of standard food-stuffs. The advantage is all with the American from a 6-to-9 ratio on potatoes to a 1-to-9 ratio on roast pork. On coal the American has nearly a 1-to-4 advantage. It is less on clothes, but on cheap cars (if the French workman ever could buy one), the American wins by 3 to 13. The sole necessity of life which is cheaper for the Frenchman in the ratio of 7 to 15, is lodging and house rent. Even there the comparison is false, if one considers the kind of lodging available for, and accepted by, the workmen of the two countries. The American has his bathroom, his central heating and his own little garage; the Frenchman has to be content with the most primitive sanitation and heating and he has no need for a garage.

Tampering With Needles

The recent experience of two young American anthropologists should be a warning to all who are inclined to think that the measurement of heads has, in the eyes of officials, no influence on nationality, according to a despatch in a London daily. The two anthropologists left America to examine the heads of Albanians, and find out exactly to what extent these are brachycephalic. They found the Albanian population very delighted to have their heads measured, and quickly finished their appointed task. They then followed the tracks of the "Alpine wide-heads" over the frontier into the south of Yugoslavia, the Jugo-Slav peasant too, did no protest to make. But the local county Prefect had, for the two anthropologists were promptly arrested and, brought before the Prefect, were told in no equivocal terms that their "infernal purpose" was clear. They were out to prove by head measurements that the Jugo-Slavs of those parts are really Albanians. They were given to understand that the Jugo-Slav authorities would not have the heads of its faithful subjects tampered with. Belgrade, highly amused at the zeal of a country patriot, has apologized to the anthropologists and given them a permit.

Rolland's "Beethoven"

The third volume of Rolland's work on Beethoven has been completed by the author, and the English translation is already under way. The Beethoven that the most ardent of Europeans presents is the one of "the great creative epoch," from the "Eroica" to the "Appassionata." "I know him better now than at the time when I sang my adolescent hymn," writes Rolland in the preface, referring to the time when he was a student in his youth, and that started him on the path to glory. If it was under the sign of Beethoven that Rolland made his debut, he has achieved a wondrous serenity under the same aegis, for the hope and consolation of mankind. For just at this moment when men are dreaming again and have actually pronounced their thought with the words, "United States of Europe," it should be remembered that Beethoven had already dedicated a hymn to their advent. Some critics call the new book "cyclopean," that is to say, titanic. Some speak of a Herculean figure that the author presents, a fruit of the age that produced Mirabeau, Napoleon and Napoleon.

THAT ANNUAL THIRD DEGREE

IT happens in every home: "Now, Bobby, it's time for sleep. And if you're a very good boy, Santa Claus will bring you something for Christmas."

"Well, he got his signals mixed last year. I ordered a pony and electric train and he brought me a tool chest."

"Darling, Santa Claus is very old and sometimes his memory slips."

"I think he must be at least eighty."

"When's his birthday?"

"On Dec. 26th."

"What he give presents away for?"

"THEN? He ought to be getting 'em instead."

"Santa Claus, my dear, is very generous. He loves to give things to children."

"Where'd he get all those things?"

"He and Mrs. Santa Claus make them at the North Pole."

"Who's got the concession at the South Pole, mama?"

"I don't think there's anyone at the South Pole."

"Why not?"

"It just happens—that's all. Santa Claus is at the North Pole."

"Why don't he move to the South Pole?"

"Because his toy factory is at the North Pole. He wouldn't want to move it."

"I should think he'd build another one at the South Pole then."

"Perhaps he will, dear."

"I don't know. Maybe next year or the year after."

"Well, he's eighty-two years old then."

"That's right, darling. Now close your little eyes and go to sleep."

"Yes, mama. But does Santa Claus's reindeer live at the North Pole, too?"

"Yes. All the reindeer are there in a stable."

"How many stalls in the stable?"

"Oh, there must be a dozen at least."

"And do the reindeer eat oats?"

"I believe so, darling. Now mother'll put the lights out and you can go to sleep."

"Will Santa Claus surely remember to bring me something?"

"Yes—if you're a good little boy. Now good night and—"

"Will he bring me an electric train and a scooter bike and a fire truck and a toboggan and a—"

"That's quite a lot for Santa to bring one little boy."

"Don't tell me he got caught in the market, too, mama?"

"Of course not. But Santa has so many other children to care for."

"What WILL he bring me, then?"

"I think he'll probably bring you a fire truck and a sled. But we can talk about that to-morrow, pet."

"What! Is he going to give me out of my electric train again?"

"I don't think Santa's factory makes electric trains. Close your eyes now, darling."

"No electric trains? What kind of a factory is that?"

"Santa is so busy he can't make everything. That's all now, honey. Good night."

"I don't see why he don't make electric trains."

"Perhaps we'll find out more about it to-morrow. Now, good night, honey."

"But, mother, why can't he—"

"Listen! If you don't shut your trap, I'll busy you on the lawn! Mother's tired. GOOD NIGHT!"

The Beauty Shop

HIPPLES and breathless and tan she is, and somewhat strident. And there are those who call her smart. But see her in Southern Europe among soft, creamy-skinned, undulating women and you see her for what she is really—a grotesque.

All very well for the Beauty Shop and the fashion column to sing of the new woman who is to be re-born in 1930. She is pictured as a woman with her long hair, long neck and long legs, and she is described as the perfect composite of all the women of all times, including the present. But it's going to take more than a long skirt and a demure ciffure to accomplish all that. It's going to take an entirely new regiment!

In an article on army, a few weeks back, this department promised to make a few frank remarks about the fantastic athlete (from). You know the sort who so far forgets her gender that she ceases to have one? Well, do her hair in a chignon and strangle her in a princess gown with a train and do you make her an enticing mystery to make the minds of men so mad?

No, the re-creation of La Femme has got to begin with things more fundamental than a skirt or a bun of hair—there are those who are true, true women in short skirts and short hair. We think the metamorphosis ought to begin with rhythmic exercises instead of strenuous exercises, with graceful bodily movements executed in time to music instead of jerky stunts accompanied by the sharp one, two, one, two of a disciplinarian's voice.

How many champ tennis players—we mean feminine ones of course—do you know who are really lovely in evening attire? There is one that the whole world knows, but the whole world also knows that she is a woman of exception to the rule. Most other girls who play hard court tennis during wet weather and their shoulders get sharp.

Perhaps before the aforementioned rhythmic exercise should come regular doses of wholesome food and rest. Yes, for the cultivation of curves, than which what in a human figure is more feminine? And after the exercises might follow practice in the art of make-up and weekly or fortnightly sessions in a beauty salon of high repute.

As for the rest, sparkle and sweetness, vivacity and gentleness, sheer coquetry, those things every woman who is a woman comes by naturally. And when judiciously tempered with modern, manly and frankness, truly no type past or future could eclipse Lady 1930.

The Farmer's Advice

I TRUST you will acknowledge that the mind affects the body. You know that shame fills the cheeks with blood and fear drives it away.

Worry causes sleeplessness. Cheerfulness helps the body in many ways and it should be the duty of everyone to be filled with sunshine.

If I go down the street throwing mud at everything I see a policeman will soon escort me to the lock-up. If I go about throwing out discord, frowns and unkind words I am allowed to run large, but my mental attitude affects me.

Happiness is a duty. It is just as easy to be happy as it is to be glum.

THE WOMAN OF IT

By Marguerite Moores Marshall

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1929

POETS long ago discovered "love-sickness" but it's hard-boiled modern science which periodically announces that "love is a disease," just like measles—only this and nothing more! A German, Dr. Waldemar Schwesheimer, is the latest to take the romance out of life.

(Or try to)—in his book called "Love Only a Disease," the subjects love to a purely clinical laboratory analysis. Here, book censors will note, is one analysis of love that is pure!

He explains that, in the persons "afflicted" with love, there is a disposition for the disease. After the germs have lodged in the potential patient—that is to say, love.

There is a period of incubation. When the "love-disease" has at last broken out, there are the following symptoms:

The eye is blurred. The face becomes pale. The heart palpitates. Sleep is irregular.

And the sufferer loses weight. These symptoms, says Dr. Schwesheimer, are intensified to the point of causing the victim to "fade away."

Unless he (or she) can share his (or her) contagion with a chosen victim—unless, in short, love is reciprocated.

The good doctor adds, with what may seem a certain cynicism, that such lovers who see their love reciprocated will recover.

Probably, however, he means that they recover from fading away.

Not from love. For his final comments are the wisest part of his diagnosis. He says, flatly, that inoculation against the "love-disease" is not yet possible. Nor has a curative serum been discovered.

Here the True Romance and the New Science meet!

Love, as all lovers know, is epidemic—chronic—incurable.

Madness, as a so-called cure for love is an utter fable.

The most (or the worst) it can accomplish is to end one attack, thus to leave the patient with resistance so weakened that another attack is inevitable.

What does it matter whether we call love beyond the seas a disease, or a romance, or an illusion?

It is, as every woman knows, the most interesting and alluring thing in the world.

To think otherwise is to fool oneself—Even though fooling oneself sometimes seems a wise and necessary process. Nevertheless, the woman who has both the intelligence and the courage to by honest!

Knows that being in love with somebody is being alive. Love may bring happiness—Or it may bring suffering, bewilderment, conflict, sacrifice. But never, never boredom or futility! Love is the supreme adventure, the universal art.

Because every woman can give love, even if she does not receive it. On a woman may want to recover from a love.

(No, we don't mean recover financial damages)—And may even succeed in getting over him.

But extricating LOVE from her heart and life is something else again. Love may be a disease, but who wouldn't rather "suffer" from it than be cured—and cold.

Or neither—dead?

REGRET

I do not hold regret for many things. That I was brought to life, nor life to me. And yet, if I could live one hour again, I would close the utter warmth and sympathy. I would be more content—for now I know.

The worth of giving that I could bestow.

It is a little sad to reap the past. And see that we have failed in our own eyes.

To wish, perhaps, for moments that are gone.

When suffering has made us fully wise. I do not hold regret for what I bring. But that I failed to give you everything!

BUT WHY DO IT?

Charles S. Mott, Vice President of General Motors, who has just won his divorce, testified that he spent $1,000,000 on his wife in nine months. It can be done—and a dollar can be paid for a delicious sandwich.

NEXT?

We wonder if, in the same day's news,

It has just been ruled, by the Supreme Court of the United States, that Benjamin Silver of New Haven, Conn., need not pay damages to his wife for injuries she received when his car bumped into a telephone post, so how can a wife protect herself in the future except by back seat driving?

Rice cookery has become an art in China, Japan, India, the Near East and in some countries of Europe. Properly cooked rice being taken as a matter of course, every cook has mastered the art.

Every grain separate and distinct. The cooked rice comes to the table as a mass of white, fluffy dainties. Or the cooked grains are combined with other foods to form a myriad of fascinating national dishes.

The preparation of rice for the table is so simple that no cook need fall short of the goal of perfection. And yet the directions for cooking rice are so full of minutiae that it is almost impossible to get it right.

In Nellie C. Wong's decorative and practical cook book of Chinese recipes her directions for cooking rice are told in fifty-nine words, every word a volume.

Quoting Miss Wong, whose culinary skill has delighted patrons of her tea shop in Peking and won her first prize at the Women's Exposition of Industrial Arts in New York three years ago, the method is:

"The proper way to cook rice is to wash it twice clean, add water, measuring one inch above the rice surface. Let it come to a boil, turn the gas low. Let the rice simmer until it is cooked dry. Do not raise the lid during the cooking. When rice is cor-

YANKEE SPIRIT DISPLAYED BY VILMA

It must have been more than coincidence that Vilma Banky took out her first citizenship papers at almost the same time that she began work on "This is Heaven," her new starring picture for Samuel Goldwyn which comes to the Fox-California theater tomorrow. For, at the same time that she formally signified her intention of becoming a good American citizen, she was playing the role of an immigrant girl's experience in her first contact with American life and finding happiness in the new land.

Five years ago she arrived in this country quite lonesome and almost frightened, as an unknown movie actress in whom Samuel Goldwyn thought he had discovered the beauty and talent he needed for a leading woman for Doland Coleman. Her blonde loveliness intrigued everyone who saw her, but her small command of English and obvious unfamiliarity with American ways did not leave her entirely at ease until she got in front of a familiar movie camera.

All this time, living quietly in Hollywood where quiet living is supposed to be almost impossible, she was feeling more and more at home in the new world that was so different from her native Hungary. Her English was improved and she had almost discovered what the country was all about. There were countless rumors that of all the men who hung around her, some one had finally got the inside track Valentino among them, but to all appearances, Vilma was heartwhole and fancy-free.

Talking Collegians and Fox Talking News are also on the program.

"HIS LUCKY DAY" RIOT OF LAUGHS

Local theater goers will be afforded a treat today when Reginald Denny's latest Universal talking screen comedy "His Lucky Day" will be shown at the Fox-California theater. It is a veritable laugh riot with a rapid succession of humorous situations, gags and funny lines. Denny is even better as a laugh-maker in the talking pictures than he was in the silent movies.

"His Lucky Day" concerns a young real estate man, played by Denny, who is trying to sell twin mansions to his prospective father-in-law, who already is renting one of the houses. Everything is progressing smoothly until a family rents the other house and turns out to be a gang of society crooks. They cast their eyes at father-in-law's antiques and at his pretty daughter. The resulting mix-up with Denny in the center of the whirl, makes for alternate snatches of good drama and excellent farce comedy.

LeRoy DuVal, a newcomer in feature pictures is the girl. She is very pretty and knows how to act. Also her screen voice is pleasing. Denny's talking screen personality and ability to deliver lines and dialogue are outstanding. His long training as a thespian before entering motion pictures, serves him well in the new screen art. Otis Harlan Clary Fitzgerald, Eddie Phillips-Harvey Clark and Tom O'Brien the other principals do excellent work. Eddie Clary directed the picture, from a story by John B. Clymer and Gladys Lehman.

A talking comedy "Lady Fare" is also on the program.

FOR HOUSE HEATING MIXED Natural Gas CUTS FUEL COSTS

NOW, all customers in San Francisco and East Bay Cities are being served a new gas fuel of greater heat content. In addition we are now offering a new optional combination rate for house heating, cooking and water heating.

New Heating Rate

Our new domestic heating rate is designed to encourage a general use of gas for house heating. The new gas with this low rate now makes gas fuel very economical. Thousands of homes that have heretofore been without this clean, quick, and carefree fuel for heating will now find it advantageous to install modern gas heating equipment. Consumers now using modern gas heating equipment will find it more economical.

Straight Natural Gas Soon

Straight-natural gas will be served in the spring of next year, upon the completion of the second pipe line from the gas fields. Natural gas has two times as much heating value as manufactured gas.

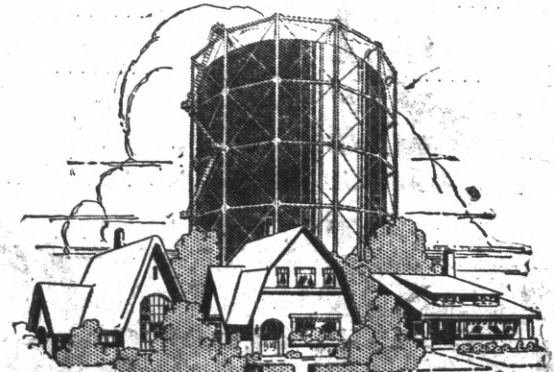

Gas-Fired Heating Ideal

And the immediate slash in price alone is not the whole story. For gas-fired heating, in addition to its low cost, is convenient, carefree, and the clean type of heating. Those customers interested in house heating equipment should call at our local office, or write or telephone and we will send a representative.

Apply for Rate Now

Customers now using gas for house heating should apply for the new optional rate at once.

Gas is cheaper—you can use more of it

3 BUILDINGS TO BE BUILT BY SANTA FE

Contracts for three new buildings have been awarded to Villalobos Brothers of San Francisco in keeping with the improvement program launched at the Richmond Santa Fe yards several months ago. According to W. B. Trull, Santa Fe agent, the three buildings will represent an investment of close to $30,000.

Two concrete buildings to replace the old coal and ice houses and a new lumber shed to house finished lumber, are the buildings to be built. Work on clearing the site has already begun, and work on the two concrete structures will start as soon as the site is cleared. It is expected that work on the lumber shed will begin in about three weeks.

The two concrete structures, which will stand adjacent to each other on the site of the old coal and ice buildings, will be 26 by 100 and 26 by 70. The larger one will be utilized to house coal and ice, and fire brick, fire clay and cement will be stored in the smaller. To make room for the larger site needed, water pipes at the north end of the site are being moved, and the coach yard office is being moved to the west end of the yard. The office will continue in use.

Standing just north of the present lumber shed, the new structure will be of frame construction and will be 40 by 173 feet. All the lumber in the yards will be protected when it is completed.

One of Santa Fe's first buildings in the local yards passed into history with the wrecking of the old coal and ice house.

The building, according to J. L. McCarthy, chief foreman, was the first storehouse Richmond had. It was later converted into the general car foreman's office and still later became the carpenter shop and locker room for shop men. Still later, it was used for storing sand. The building was erected about 1900.

WARDEN LAUDS GUARDS IN BREAK

warden made the deliberate statement that Becker shot and killed Principal Keeper Durnford in cold blood.

"He beckoned to Durnford," the warden said, "and shouted to him to 'come over.' Durnford, suspecting a trap, started to back away, whereupon Becker shot him twice as he was retreating up the steps. When they asked me to sign the order to release them and to have automobiles at the gate, I told them that such an order wouldn't be honored, and that perhaps the guards ought to sign it. That brought on another 15-minute argument. After that I told them it would take time, that people would have to be cleared out of the street so innocent people might not be killed, and that they couldn't get the automobiles in a hurry."

"Finally, after about a half hour of discussion, they told me to write the order myself. I did so, but disguised my handwriting, knowing that no such order would go through, and that Sullivan, who knew his business, would recognize that it wasn't genuine."

EIGHT GUNS STILL HELD BY CONVICTS
AUBURN, Dec. 13.—(AP)—With 1500 convicts still confined to their cells and eight guns still missing, Auburn prison authorities today concentrated their activities upon forestalling any further outbreak, which is a possibility so long as one contraband weapon remains in a prisoner's hands.

Today's investigation by Dr. Raymond P. C. Kieh, commissioner of corrections, was chiefly concerned in running down the facts surrounding the possession of revolvers by the inside guards, on the day of the riot.

Ordinarily, it is against regulations for guards to carry weapons, because of the danger of exactly what occurred Wednesday, when 15 convicts overpowered a squad of their keepers and armed themselves with the guards' guns.

The event will be continued today. It is under the direction of Mrs. Alice Fanning and Mrs. Bessie Eggerth.

SOCIAL EVENTS

MISS STANLEY, ROBERT CARSON WED DEC. 11

Miss Margaret Stanley, of Richmond, became the bride of Robert Carson at a ceremony performed in San Jose on Dec. 11. It was learned yesterday. The ceremony took place at the First Christian church in San Jose.

Mrs. Carson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Stanley, 140 Twelfth street, Richmond, and is a graduate of the local high school.

YULE PROGRAM PRESENTED AT NYSTROM SCHOOL

A Christmas program and social was enjoyed by the children of the Nystrom school yesterday with the members of the school P. T. A. assisting in arranging the event.

Mrs. Ben Howden, Mrs. Harriet Owenby, Mrs. H. Cooper, Mrs. L. Stacy and Mrs. H. Waddingham, were in charge of the association's part in the program.

There were Christmas songs, stories and a play and Santa Claus gave each of the children a gift of candy.

R. WINDLER NAMED HEAD OF I. O. O. F.

Robert Windler was last night elected chief patriarch of C. C. Encampment of Odd Fellows at its meeting in the Odd Fellows hall.

L. C. Hitchcock was elected high priest; J. L. Locke, senior warden; Ellis Skow, junior warden; Frank Rhodes, recording secretary; G. T. Stanley, financial secretary; L. W. Skow, treasurer and J. L. Brown, trustee. Hitchcock is the retiring chief patriarch.

The meeting last night was attended by R. P. Jones and Merlin Alberts, both of Crockett. Jones is district deputy grand patriarch and Alberts is district deputy grand master of the subordinate lodge.

A banquet prepared under the direction of G. T. Stanley, V. V. Orr, and H. E. Housman was served at the conclusion of the meeting.

EAGLE AUXILIARY LAYS PLANS FOR YULETIDE PARTY

Plans were formulated for a Christmas tree party on Dec. 20, at a meeting of the Point Richmond auxiliary of Eagles last night in Woodmen hall.

The party will be held in conjunction with the Point Richmond Aerie, and will be open to families of both organizations.

Mrs. Leha Feudner, Mrs. Clara Barry and Mrs. Louise DeBolt, were appointed to consult with the committee from the Eagle lodge and make arrangements for the party. The men's committee is composed of George Stavros, Jack Feudner and J. Barileles.

Plans were also made for a birthday party on Dec. 27, for all members who were born in the months of June, July, August, September, October, November and December.

Yule Party Held At Grant School

The Grant school children enjoyed a Christmas program and party yesterday afternoon at the school.

Members of the P. T. A. of the school took part in arranging the program. Children of the grades gave recitations and sang Christmas songs.

At the conclusion of the program, Santa Claus was present and delivered gifts to the children.

MAUDE GRICE NAMED P. S. LODGE HEAD

Mrs. Maude Grice was elected most excellent chief of the Contra Costa temple of Pythian Sisters last night at a session in the Brotherhood hall.

Other officers elected included Mary Lee Reynolds, past chief; Lina Hudson, excellent senior; Frances Michel, excellent junior; Mosetta Pitzer, manager; Josephine Lambie, mistress of records and correspondence; Florence Losh, mistress of finance; Anna Mora, protector; Myrtle Carlie, outer guard; Evelyn Jullierat, installing officer; Josephine Lambie, press correspondent.

Installation of officers will be held in the near future.

Mrs. Ruth Leese, of Oakland, grand chief of the Pythian Sisters, was an honored guest last night. Drills were staged in her honor. She was presented with a beautiful fabric cloth at the banquet meeting.

The group will participate with the Richmond lodge of Knights of Pythias and the Richmond lodge of Pythian Sisters at a Christmas party to be held soon. The banquet held last night was under the direction of Mrs. Anna Bowyer, Mrs. Frances Michel, Mrs. Myrtle Carlie, Mrs. Estelle Burns and Mrs. Maude Grice.

RICHMOND CLUB WILL CLOSE YEAR MONDAY

The final meeting of the year will be held by the Richmond club Monday afternoon at the clubhouse, according to Mrs. Lura Kent.

Miss Lillian Thomason, librarian at the Shanghai college, at Shanghai, China, will be the speaker. Miss Thomason, whose Chinese name is Sia Sia Ling Tong will tell of the work being carried on at the college, which is the only co-educational institution in that country.

A Christmas play will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Zeida Chapin and a program will be enjoyed.

Mrs. Kent will be in charge of the business meeting.

PERES P. T. A. ENTERTAINED AT YULE PROGRAM

Children of the Peres school were entertained yesterday afternoon at a Christmas program held in the school auditorium under the direction of the teachers and the P. T. A. of the school.

Songs, Christmas stories and recitations featured the program. Santa Claus was present and gave each child Christmas candies.

Mrs. Lud Johnson, president of the association, Mrs. James Narvez and Mrs. E. Castleman were in charge of the P. T. A. part of the program.

Secretary Of Y. Addresses Church Group

Carl Longacre presided over last night's meeting of the Men's club of the First Baptist church in the church parlors. O. L. Crigler was chairman of the evening. Community singing was enjoyed by the group, led by Bruce Phillips.

Short talks, followed by: R. H. Kinney, C. E. Parker, Dr. T. A. Guthrie and Rev. Kenneth Wallace.

Reynold Carlson, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. made the principal speech of the evening. He told of the organization and the workings of the "Y" and problems of the boy associated with the organization.

London Calls U. S. To Check Story

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—London newspaper reporters are "so rapturous" over news that they won't let a hard working scientist get his sleep, Dr. I. S. Falk of the University of Chicago lamented tonight.

After announcing his momentous discovery of the isolation of influenza germ, Dr. Falk tired and sleepy, went to bed Thursday night. He slept soundly until 5 a. m. today when he was awakened by the telephone bell.

"This is the London Times speaking," said a faint voice. "We want to know—"

The London reporter was persistent, so the sleepy-eyed professor admitted he had made the announcement, slammed the receiver down and went back to bed.

LOCAL SCHOOL ISSUES TERM MAGAZINE

Illustrated by clever etchings depicting the old English Christmas customs, the "Winged R" was issued yesterday by the journalism class of Roosevelt junior high school. The entire issue is written in the style of several hundred years ago. The school magazine is dedicated to Roy Huffman, vice principal of the school. The etchings were contributed by members of the art classes.

The magazine was published under the direction of Margaret Skinner, journalism instructor. The members of the editorial staff were: Rosalind Hillyer, Raymond Farnsworth, Dorothy Erwin, Philip Carlin, Fred Sueyraz, Irene Kellegan, Helen Coakes, Ruby Doyle, Marion Hood, Harriet Ber-

Two Building Permits Issued

Two building permits were issued yesterday in the office of A. J. Hurley, city building inspector.

George J. Shaw will erect a tile six car garage on Eighth street between Nevil and Barrett avenues. The structure to cost $200 will be built by George J. Gordon.

The American Trust company, as trustee was given a permit to remodel a store front and install a partition on Macdonald avenue between Eighth and Ninth streets. Carter H. Johnston is the contractor.

Jane Bellegarde, Elthea Harlow, Bernice Rison, Carabel Myers, Frederick McLennan and Leo Haley.

These contributing to the edition were: Helen Silvy, Markie McAllister, Annie Erch, Slavka Alexich, Elthea Harlow, Adeline Swenson, Josephine Budts, Mary Madigan, Antonette Selzer, Barbara Eby, Homer Collins, Arthur Stribley and Geraldine Hebrard.

Use Complete Address On All Christmas Cards

The public was warned yesterday by Postmaster James N. Long, that Christmas cards not bearing a street address, would not be moved by the Richmond post-office department until after the Christmas mail rush.

According to Long, the post office is deluged with Christmas cards bearing merely the name and "Richmond." The post office employees have orders not to attempt to look up proper addresses of such cards during the rush season, but to hold them over until it is possible to devote time to a search.

It was also ruled that packages should be addressed on one side only, to facilitate handling.

Local Architects Win School Job

The board of trustees of the Fairfield high school district, has given the contract to submit plans for rebuilding the high school recently destroyed by fire, to Coffman-Sahlberg and Stafford local architects.

The "Franklin" attorneys examined his black hair and eyes. Hugh Williamson then announced he would prosecute the five defendants to the fullest extent of the law in the trial opening Monday. He expressed himself as thoroughly convinced the real Franklin was slain.

"There's not much more I can say," the man who has held the leading role in the "strange play of contradictions here said after today's scene provided a climax. "If I'm not Connie Franklin, I don't know what's got into Connie. He's double-crossing me."

MCLARNIN WINS FROM RUBY IN SECOND

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—UP—Jimmie McLarnin, gallant little welterweight contender from Vancouver, B. C., made short work of his fight with Ruby Goldstein of New York tonight, knocking out the flashy east sider after 52 seconds of boxing in the second round.

The fight, which was witnessed by a capacity crowd in Madison Square garden, was one-sided as the heavy odds laid on McLarnin had pressed.

Jimmie had Ruby beaten from the opening bell, dropping him for a short count in the first round and knocking him through the ropes for the count of nine before finishing the New Yorker in the second.

Goldstein never put a glove on McLarnin except for light left jabs which did little more than drive the Irishman into greater efforts. Jimmie fought his man about the ring and looked every inch a real championship contender. From the start it was apparent that Goldstein was a beaten man. He went down in the first round after a shower of punches, none of which would have dropped a more courageous fighter.

The second round was hardly under way before McLarnin rushed a right to Ruby's jaw and the East Sider went sprawling thru the ropes, out of the ring except for his quivering legs.

They shoved him back before the count of 10, but Ruby had had enough by that time. A brief bit of sparring was followed by another crushing right to the jaw, and Goldstein went over flat upon his back, lying motionless in the rest as the count of 10 was tolled.

Young Corbett Wins Decision Over Mexican

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13.—(UP)—A knockdown and a barrage of left hand punches gave Young Corbett, of Fresno, a decision over ommy Elks, welterweight champion of Mexico, after their ten round bout here tonight.

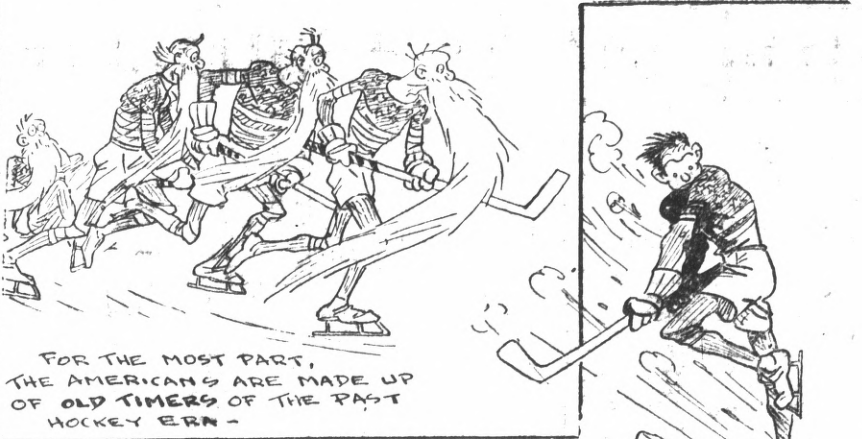

Corbett sent Elks to the canvas in the sixth round, but the latter bobbed up without taking a count.

Other results: Jack Beasley defeated Bill Thayer, six; Charlie Hernandez defeated Jiro Kumagai, four; Millio Millett defeated Sammy James, four; Jack LaVar defeated Russell Wayne, four; Al Olsen knocked out Victor Pussis, two; and Louie O'Neil knocked out Lou Jones, two.

DeMolay Boys To Prepare For East-West Game

Seventeen members of Richmond chapter, Order of DeMolay will meet Monday night, and journey to the Aahmes temple in Oakland, where practice will be held for the Shriner's annual East-West game.

According to A. Weston Judkins, chairman of the group, only 15 of these boys will be allowed to attend the game, as Richmond was allotted only 15 seats.

The total number of De Molay's in the east bay who will attend the game as guests of the Shriners is 250. They will form a routing section and cheer for the East team, San Francisco and vicinity will also be allowed 250 DeMolays, who will root for the West team.

Members from all over the east bay will be at the practice Monday night, and will learn the yell and cheers from a former yell leader of the University of California.

The boys will meet outside the Kezar stadium on New Year's day prior to the game, attired in uniforms, and will march into the stadium, preceded by a band.

Members of the Richmond chapter, who will attend practice Monday night and from whom the 15 will be picked are: Judkins, Harry Kose, Chester Thompson, Raymond Molin, Ted Merry, Clyde Bumgarner, Everett Engleman, Roy Anderson, Joseph Zink, Melmar Anderson, Denton Davis, Irwin Stewart, Edward Hood, Wilard Spierack, Edwin Brooks, Fred Childs and Jack Housemar.

They will meet on the corner of Tenth street and Macdonald avenue at 6:30 Monday night to enable them to reach the Aahmes temple by 7:30, when practice will begin.

PAINFUL CORNS

Loosen—Lift Out

A little known Japanese herb, the discovery of an eminent German scientist (Dr. Stickel) instantly soothes the corn, callous or wart, then loosens it so that shortly you can lift it right out. This new discovery called "Corn Fly" extracts the white blood corpuscles to action and granulates the corn at its root so that it drops out and leaves no trace of scar or soreness.

You will also find "Corn Fly Foot Bath Powder" a boon for sore, tired or perspiring feet.

"Corn Fly" for corns, 35c; "Corn Fly Foot Bath Powder" 25c; and "Corn Fly Bunion Remedy" 50c. (All three—$1.10 value—for $1.00), are sold under a positive money-back guarantee by Hi-Gene Co., Newark, N. J., or local druggist.

CHANGE IN TROY BACKFIELD SEEN

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13.—UP—Last minute backfield changes loomed in the University of Southern California lineup as the Trojans went through their final light workout today in preparation for their game with Carnegie Tech Saturday.

Great Shires, Hack Wilson Will Battle

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—UP—Lewis R. "Hack" Wilson, Chicago Cub outfielder, and Arthur "The Great" Shires, battling first baseman of the Chicago White Sox, were signed today to fight here sometime during January. Promoter James Mullen announced.

The battle which promises to climax the winter boxing season here, will be less than ten rounds Mullen said.

The stocky, 200 pound Cub who holds a verdict over the Cincinnati Reds, or at least part of last year's Red team, was given $10,000 and training expenses for his share of the fight. Shires' pay was not announced but probably will be about the same.

Arthur, in addition to a couple of decisions over Lena Blackburne, erstwhile manager of the White Sox, last Monday won a professional encounter here from Dan Daly, a mysterious fighter from Cleveland, Ohio. Daly was put down and out in eleven seconds by Shires.

Monday night Shires makes his second appearance as a professional fighter, meeting George "Tornado" Trafton. After that he will go into training for "the" bout of the year here.

Wilson sent word from his home in Martinsburg, W. Va., that he also was going into training. He said he didn't know who would be his training partners but thought that he might get Tommy Loughran, who hails from Wilson's birthplace, to add him.

that Shaver, sophomore punting ace, might be sent in at the start to replace Musick. The Trojans need all the kicking they can get.

There was still another possibility. Don Moses, a sensational line plunger who has not been able to get going this year, may be started in the Musick-Shaver position, leaving Pinkert to do the booting.

It was believed that the outcome of the game may depend upon the ability of Troy punters to come through.

In the point after touchdown problem Coach Howard Jones also was puzzled. He may bench Captain Nate Barrager as he did in the Washington State game and start Baker at the guard position. Baker has been the only man to add the extra points consistently.

FIRST BAPTIST, COMMUNITY CAGERS CHURCH GAME WINNERS

The First Baptists emerged victorious from a terrific tangle with the Wesley Methodists by a score of 24 to 22 last night in an A division contest of the Y. M. C. A. church basketball league. The San Pablo Baptists of the B division were defeated 16 to 10 by the Community Methodists.

The First Baptists piled up a large lead in the first half of their clash with the Wesleyans. The Methodists made a fine come back in the last two quarters, with the result that the score was tied at 22 in the last minute of the game. However, a shot from Merle Baskett of the Methodists, decided the result before the final whistle.

The Community Methodists maintained a large margin throughout a rather sloppy game, although the San Pabians threatened the Methodist goal often during the last two periods.

First Game
San Pablo Baptists (24) Linstedt (16), M. Baskett (2) forwards; Lee, center; F. Baskett (4), Regalia (2), guards.

Wesley Methodists (22) Boschetti (6), Black (7), forwards; Jewell (2), center; Drexel (7), Jenkins, guards.

Second Game
Community Methodists (16) Hillier (6), Johnson, forwards; Finn (8), center; Hopkins (2), Robinson, guards.
San Pablo Baptists (10) Moffat (4), C. Cervenka, forwards; Viera (2), center; DeCourtney, G. Cervenka (4), guards; substitutes, Nevis, forward; Dorney, guard.

Boxing Board Moves To Halt Ring Fouling

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—UP—New York's boxing fathers, the members of the New York State Athletic Commission, today took drastic action aimed to call a halt to the current epidemic of fouling in the prize ring.

The Commission announced that boxing clubs of the state would be notified to hold up purses of fighters who commit fouls. The clubs then will be advised by the commission as to how much to pay the offending boxers.

No cut and dried formula will be allowed in payments the commission announced. Generally, however, the boxer will be paid on something of a pro-rata basis of rounds fought before the low blow occurred. Sweet charity would benefit by the remainder.

The decision reached in today's meeting, aimed a lethal blow at every fighter's most tender spot, his purse.

The purse suspension measure, of course was inspired by the result of last Monday night's Christmas fund show, in which Phil Scott was declared a winner on a foul unleashed by Otto Von Porat.

FIELDS, JONES THROWN OUT OF RING

BOSTON, Dec. 13.—UP—A scheduled 10 round non-title bout between Jackie Fields, of Los Angeles, champion welterweight and Gordia Jones of Akron, O., was halted tonight in the seventh round by Referee Joe O'Donnell who declared no contest.

The referee warned both fighters regarding stalling several times before stopping the fight. O'Donnell's verdict met with disapproval of many. Fields apparently was trying his best to out-point or knockout his opponent. The latter seemed unable to make any great showing against the champion although he sent Fields to the mat in the early part of the first round.

Although being awarded every round, Fields succeeded none by a large margin.

THE FONG WAN HERB CO.

Dear Mr. Fong—

I am writing this letter to express my gratitude for the splendid results and benefits I have received from the use of the Chinese Herbs prepared by you.

I had a complication of Liver, Gall Bladder and Stomach trouble. I was suffering from indigestion, flatulence, and a general feeling of uneasiness. I had also a sharp, stabbing pain in the lower right side of my abdomen.

The region of the Liver was exceedingly sore and tender; so much so that even loose clothing became irritating and uncomfortable. My Stomach was also very sure to the touch and felt as if there were a lump the size of an egg in it. After meals, food which was very sour and burned the throat, was returned to the mouth. This condition steadily became worse over a period of a year.

Results were noticeable the very first week, and now, after six weeks, I am entirely free from the terrible stabbing pains and the soreness of my Liver. My digestion is good. The old feeling of lassitude has completely disappeared and I feel much brighter and more energetic than I have for years.

I am most happy to strongly recommend the herbs of the Fong Wan Herb Co. as prepared by you. Wishing you unbounded success and again thanking you for what you have done for me, I am Very cordially yours,

UPON RECEIPT OF POSTAGE WE WILL MAIL YOU A BOOK ON HERBS. (Give within the first one or two of the most distant zones.)

"IS EVERYBODY HAPPY?"

By ELEANORE CAREY

Copyright 1929 Warner Bros. Pictures Inc.
This novel is based on the Warner Bros. & Vitaphone production starring Ted Lewis

SYNOPSIS

The Molnars have come from Budapest to New York that their boy, Ted, may carve out a glorious career for himself as a violinist. He tramps the streets for weeks, the violin under his arm, seeking an engagement. It is referred from one conductor and manager to another until Mr. Abrams, the theatrical producer, sympathizing with his plight, tells him New York doesn't want fine violin music—wax the saxophone are in demand. He tells Ted to learn to play a hot saxophone and then come back and he will help him find work.

INSTALLMENT VI

"Wait! I'll give you a hundred dollars because I like you!"

Ted opened the door. The old man watched him to find out if he was bluffing, but he found Ted to be in earnest as he walked out of the door and down the street.

The old pawn broker shuffled hurriedly to the door and shouted at Ted.

"Wait! Come back!" he cried.

Ted returned wearily to the shop—the whole thing was an unhappy affair.

"All right. I suppose I'll have to let you have it," said the pawn broker grudgingly.

Ted took his violin from its resting place, where it had lain for many years, and with trembling fingers and a fearful unhappy feel ing around his heart he hesitantly handed the violin to the pawn broker.

"Oh, you're keeping the case? Well, as you say, but it will cost you four dollars."

"Now I'll buy one of those violins," said Ted as he examined one after another of the cheap looking fiddles and feeling all the time that he would not be able to make his father believe that it was his violin.

So, choosing the best one of the bunch and picking up his saxophone, he left the shop much more hurriedly than he had entered.

Night, gathering its shadows, was softly blanketing the park in the center of Manhattan Island. The thoroughfares and walks were pretty well deserted except for those hurrying home from a long day of confusion and noise the business of a big city inevitably makes. It is as if the quiet of the park helped lessen the density of their nerves and gave them relaxation as that which comes from the sudden ending of the sound of a radiator's hissing, or when the steel rivets high above the earth boring holes in a mighty construction cease the rattling noise.

The quietude of the park had been violated for several nights past. Someone (it must be someone) was blowing a horn on a horn of some kind, the sound of which permeated the walls of bedrooms and disturbed the peace of mind of the sleepers.

In an exclusive apartment the maid had been instructed to telephone the police department to effect that as taxpayers they demanded the noise in the park, which was going on at the present time and had been heard for several nights, be stopped.

In another apartment nearby Mrs. Abrams turned to the governess for her two children and said:

"That terrible person is at it again! Miss Wilson, will you see your friend the policeman and ask him if he won't stop that noise?"

Miss Wilson started on her trip to the policeman, who was very friendly and had just an interested eye in her direction for some time past. He always wondered why it was that his Apollo-like appearance never inspired her to more than a friendly "Good afternoon," but some day he'd have a chance to make her more than usually recognize him. Time would come when she would ask him to do a favor for her—something important, and then he'd show her how important he was.

She walked directly up to Ted and said: "Are you the violinist who was on the boat?"

Ted cast a surprised glance at her face and answered with a smile of boy in his heart for perhaps now he had found her. His eyes took in every detail of her face and form there in the moonlight, and as he glanced at her feet he could vision just such a tiny shapely foot healing time to the rhythm of the late band.

"Why yes! Ted said as he looked at her. "And you were the beautiful lady who listened?"

"The world went crazy again for Ted. He'd forgotten she was married, but what if she wasn't? What beautiful young girl would pay attention to a musician out of a job?"

MASS MEETING BACKS VET HOSPITAL

der the World War Veterans Act, 1924, as amended by purchase, replacement and remodeling or extension of existing plants and by construction on sites now owned by the government, or sites to be acquired by purchase, condemnation, gift or otherwise."

Two For State
It is expected that two new hospitals will be built in California; one in the north and one in the south. The sites will be picked by the United States Veterans Bureau.

Miller stated that the aim of the East Bay Veterans' Hospital association, of which Judge Howard L. Bacon of Oakland is the general chairman, is to have that northern hospital located in the eastbay.

When assurance of this is given, the Richmond Veterans' Hospital committee and the citizens will then strive to have the hospital constructed in Richmond or Contra Costa county.

Resolutions Forwarded
But before anything can be done, Miller stated, everyone must strive to have the Rogers bill passed. Resolutions, which will be forwarded to senators and congressmen urging the bill to be passed have been signed by the Richmond city council, the Richmond Lions, the Richmond Elks, Business and Professional Women, Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis club, Odd Fellows and the Rotary club.

Copies of the resolution, to be signed by the Richmond organizations, were passed out at the meeting last night. There were also cards for citizens to pledge their support and copies of letters to be forwarded to senators and congressmen by the individuals.

Leaflets, telling of the aims of the veterans' hospital group of the eastbay were also distributed.

County Support
County support will be enlisted, Miller said. He appointed Ernest Woodfelt, of Suisun; S. S. Ripley of Richmond and T. Fernandez of Pinole to meet with Contra Costa associates and ask for their support.

San Francisco and other counties in northern California are opening campaigns to have the hospital located in their counties, and as a result, the Richmond and other bay region groups are expecting a stiff campaign.

None in County
He declared that Contra Costa county has no government hospital but there is no reason why it should not.

The county has the climate, the soil, the water, the drainage, and is in the center of population, a large factor, he said.

Magart, in turn, urged every citizen to do his bit to aid the local and eastbay organization.

Many Lend Aid
Groups represented at last night's meeting included the Sons of St. George; Veterans of Foreign Wars and auxiliary; Legion and auxiliary; U. V. R. and auxiliary; Lions; P. T. A. groups; W. C. T. U.; Point W. C. T. U.; Trinity Guild; Redmen; railroad unions; Eagles; Kiwanis; Rotary; Catholic Ladies' Aid; Women's Catholic Order of Foresters; Austrian-American society; Tennis club; Alpha Masons; Civic Center club; American Guards; Daughters of St. George; Business and Professional Women; The Certain-teed Products company; Richmond San Rafael Ferry company; the Standard Oil company and other industrial groups.

City officials present included Mayor A. L. Paulsen; Councilman Mattie Chandler; Russell Meyer and Virgil Fenner; Chief of Police Dan Cox and Fire Chief W. P. Cooper.

Protect Your Furniture

A $1.35 to Bid Your Home of Moths May Save You Hundreds of Dollars.

MORTEMOTH KILLS MOTHS

The gas from Mortemoth crystals not only protects your furniture for a long time, but contact with it kills all moths, their eggs and their dangerous larvae in furniture which is already infested.

The proper method of using Mortemoth crystals is to tie them in small sacks, and to place these sacks down in the channel of the place, as deeply as possible, behind the cushions, so that, upon expansion, the gas will spread and fill the spring units in the back and in the bottom of the piece.

When the sacks are empty, fill them again.

Ladies Night Plans Made By Rotarians

Many bundles of old clothing were brought by members of the Richmond Rotary club to its meeting in the Hotel Carquinez yesterday. The clothing will be distributed throughout the city under the direction of local organizations during the Christmas season.

Plans for the annual Ladies Night were also discussed by the club. The party will be held on Dec. 27 and a committee consisting of Clark Kratzer, Fred B. LaMoine, John Galvin and F. A. Mero has been appointed to arrange for the affair.

A vocational talk was given at yesterday's meeting by Otto Paulsen and a travelogue by W. H. McBryde. W. A. Fenner, chairman of Richmond, was chairman of the day.

$35,000 Asked In Automobile Crash

MARTINEZ, Dec. 13.—Suit for $35,000 damages was filed here today by Thomas Parrott against Herman Schwartz for injuries sustained in an accident on Dec. 9.

Parrott claims that while crossing Lafayette and Eureka avenues at El Cerrito, he was struck by a car driven by Schwartz and as a result is suffering permanent injuries. He charges Schwartz with driving in a negligent manner.

New Arrival At Douglas' Home

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Douglas, 536 Richmond Avenue, El Cerrito, are the proud parents of a daughter born at an Oakland hospital on Dec. 9. The newcomer has been named Marjory Jane.

clman of Richmond, was chairman of the day.
